The Committee in charge of the Junior Jamboree has completed the final plans for the first college outing sponsored by an undergraduate class and there is little doubt but what the event will be one of the most successful of the entire program. Arrangements are being made for a great turnout, as many persons have already signified their intention of attending.

From this terminal, the trail will lead along a path designated by a series of ribbons as markers, in the gerenal direction of the picnic grounds at Chipman Hill. After following the trail for some distance the treasure hunrers will find it branching into two parts at the end of which will be located prizes for the lucky winners. It is planned to have the prizes hidden in the vicinity of the spot where the luncheon is to be served. This luncheon wil be served by the members of the Y. W. C. A. and will be open to everyone who has purchased a ticket.

The tickets will be sold by the members of the committee during the latter part of the week for the price of twenty-five cents apiece. Contrary to the opinion expressed, the Jamboree will not be limited to couples alone, as groups from both the men's and women's colleges will attend.

CHARLES F. ABBOTT DIES AT HIS HOME SATURDAY MORNING

Has Been on Faculty Here For Sixteen Years.

OCCUPIED CHAIR OF POLITICAL SCIENCE

Held Jermain Professorship Of Government and Law Since 1917.

Charles Francis Abbott, a member of the faculty of Middlebury College since 1913, and Jermain Professor of Government and Law since 1917, died at his home here Saturday morning, April 27. His death occuried at 9:50 A. M. and was reported in Chapel a few minutes later by President Moody.

Death came as the result of a cancer which had been growing steadily worse for the past few years. Athough he had twice undergone an operation, specialists were unable to effect any lasting improvement. A few weeks ago his health took a sudden turn for the worse, and he was forced to abandon his teaching and remain confined in his home. Although it was realized that his condition was hopeless, nevertheless his death came as a great shock to the college and the community.

Professor Abbott was one of the ablest and most admired men on the college faculty. He was a man of unusual attainments in his field, and an authority upon political and social subjects. His universally recognized position as a teacher and a scholar won him many admirers among students, faculty, administrative officials, and townspeople. One of the student activities in which he was especially interested was debating, and for many years he was one of the coaches of the debating teams. He was also closely connected, throughout his career at Middlebury, with the problems of the college and administration, and at the time of his death was one of the members of the faculty committee on administration.

Professor Abbott abandoned the prac-

FOUR PLAYS CHOSEN FOR SWIFT CONTEST

Judges Pick Plays Submitted By Bosworth, Deedman, White and Lawson.

Professor Frank W. Cady, Chairman of the board of judges for the Swift Playwriting Contest, announces that the plays to be produced in competition for the three cash prizes have been chosen. The plays are, "The Judgement of Maris" by Raymond Bosworth '29, "Boloney" by Arthur H. Lawson '30, "The Tenth Word" by Eloise White '29, and "Man Alive" by Donald Deedman '29.

The four plays selected were chosen from a large number of entries. The judges took into special consideration the structural quality, originality, and dramatic composition of the manuscripts, and chose the four which seemed to best embody all three of these qualifications.

The judges for the contest were Professor Cady, chairman, President P. D. Moody, and Professor H. G. Owen. These same judges will also judge the plays when they are produced. At this time the basis of their judgement will be presentation effectiveness, and the three best plays will receive the Swift prizes which are $75, $50 and $25.

The exact date for the production of the productinon of the prize plays has not yet been definitely set, but will probably be either May 23 or May 30.

Junior Play Date Changed; Tickets Go on Sale Thursday

Due to a recent order by the Insurance Underwriters, it has been found necessary to give two presentations of the Junior Play, "Not Herbert". The conditions of the Play House has required the Junior Play Committee to limit the tickets for each presentation to one hundred persons to remain within the limits of the Fire Underwriters rules. The play is to be given on Wednesday night, May 8 and Saturday night, May 11. Tickets may be reserved during the latter part of this week at Cushman's Store.

Vol. XXVI. May 1, 1929 No.26

CHARLES FRANCIS ABBOTT

WHOSE LOYALTY AND DEVOTION TO

MIDDLEBURY COLLEGE

CAN NEVER BE FORGOTTEN.

PROGRESSIVENESS.

The students of the men's college made a progressive move when they voted favorably for rather abrupt, but necessary changes in the Undergraduate Association constitution. These new amendments will change almost entirely the organization in the Association, but the need for such alterations was felt for a long time and the persons responsible for the initiative required to put such a plan across should be congratulated. It is years since changes in the organization have been made. It is obvious that the needs of the college change with time, either we had to contend with an inefficient and inadequate plan or effect a complete change. The change has been made with everyone's cooperation and the practical working of the new plan can be looked at with optimism. Such a complete change need not have been made had the students in earlier years made a change now and then to keep the old plan in accordance with the changing conditions.

The plan as submitted is representative not only of all organizations, but also of the whole student body. It provides a more suitable means for the intelligent discussion of any student problems. The president is elected from a group of five men selected by the Nominating Committee, which is composed of representatives of each fraternity and the neutral body. This eliminates the objection of having the group with the largest number in the Association having their man nominated or elected. To check the actions of the Committee is the provision that, on petition of twenty-five per cent of the members of the Association, a candidate may be put up for election in addition to those already selected. To have the remainder of the officers elected by the council and from their own group is a step forward, eliminating various complications arising under the old plan.

The new system of representation on the Athletic Council deserves comment, in that now all members will be familiar with and interested in matters relating to athletics.

Spring is here, at least according to the calendar, and that brings forth the annual plea to those who must cut campus to at least walk around newly planted plots of ground. It wouldn't be a bad idea if we stopped cutting campus altogether, at least for a few weeks. Help keep your campus beautiful, give the grass a chance.

Friday will open the baseball season on Porter Field, so don't let studies interfere with your college work at least for the first few games. You'll go to the others anyway. The least you can do towards winning a game is lending your moral suport. Let's all turn out and show the team we're behind them.

CAMPUS CHATTER

EDITORS NOTE:

The CAMPUS takes this opportunity to apologize for not having this column appear in the first regular issue by the new board.

This is the student's column that is to appear every week, providing there is ambition enough in the student body to supply the copy. There certainly should be enough talent and bright ideas among the students to more than fill this whole page each week, but all we want is a column. Contributions need not be signed unless the author wishes it and they may be deposited in the publications box in the book store or handed to the editor. The name "Campus Chatter" was thought to be more appropriate than Hodge Podge as originally contemplated.

Elections

Undergraduate Association elections will be taking place during the next week. It is the duty of the men's college to elect the best man, but has that always been the policy? The new system of elections and the new organization plan is highly commendable in that it will eliminate fraternity politics. No longer will doubtful but nevertheless ever present accusations be made against certain groups uniting in the election of an office as an exchange for some other favor.

Be yourself, don't let others think for you. If anyone would vote for whom they thought was the best man, undoubtedly the best man would win. But how can the best man be selected if you allow some skillful politician tell you who in his mind is the best fitted?

The college has much musical talent, and if you don't believe it, you must attend the joint concert of the orchestra and choir Friday night. It will be your only chance to hear them in a concert and besides its all free.

It won't be yong now until Vermont will be invading the local diamond for the anuall Junior Week baseball game. When the upstaters lost practically their entire championship last June, hopes arose here in Middlebury. The Green and Gold however, has unearthed some freshmen stars and will present a smooth working combination.

Norwich started off on the wrong foot last week and lost the opening game to Brown.

It is rumored that Coach Beck is going to add another sport to his repertoire. There are reports around that the popular mentor is going to buy a new Ford.

The Middlebury tennis team lost three matches last week, but this was to be expected as the boys have had to do all of their practicing in the gym as the courts are still just a little damp. Perhaps the weather will clear up enough so that the surfaces can be used by the first of September.

Kasper Speaks on the Department Store

Joseph P. Kasper, '20, Manager of the Household department of the R. H. Macy Co. of New York, spoke Monday April 22, on "The Department Store as a Field for the College Graduate". A considerable number of students who were especially interested in this field arranged for personal interviews with Mr. Kasper in the evening. Mr. Kasper came to Middlebury at this time as one of the vocational speakers of the program sponsored by the Undergraduate Committee of Vocations.

During his college course Mr. Kasper was prominent in student affairs, being president of the Undergraduate Organization and chairman of the Student Council as well as Editor of the CAMPUS. Mr. Kasper is a member of the D. K. E. fraternity.

Shortly after his graduation in 1920, he became associated with the R. H. Macy Co. and was soon made assistant buyer of the china and hardware department. His rise to the managership of the Household Furnishings department occupied a relatively short time. Mr. Kasper has recently returned from a two month's European trip in the interests of his store.

SWIFT AND NORTON TALK ON VOCATION

Publishing and Social Service Work are Next Subjects.

Maroin R. Swift '26, who is pursuing industrial chemistry work in Springfield, Mass., and Lucille Norton '27, hospital technician of the Meridan (Conn.) Hospital spoke to the women interested in their respective fields, Friday, April 26, in Peason's Social Hall.

Miss Swift, who taught at Vassar College before entering upon the position she now holds, suggested that the women who intended to follow industrial chemistry should get as broad and comprehensive a background in that subject as the college affords. Personal interviews give the best results in trying for a place in this field, as application through an agency demands experience. First opportunities are for analystic work, and salaries and progress come rapidly as the woman proves her worth—often sooner than in a teaching position. This work provides many very interesting fields for research.

Miss Norton discussed hospital work from the point of view of a hospital technician, whose work covers bacteriology, serology, blood chemistry, and other technical lines. This requires a foundation in biology, physiology, bacteriology, chemistry and physics. Interest and enterprise are necessary, for here one must begin with volunteer work in the laboratory of a hospital for four or five months. After this comes an appointment to assistant or regular technician. There is much variety, since occasions for teaching and nursing are frequent, and opportunities for contacts with people are offered not only through the doctors and nurses of the institution, but in a small hospital with with the patients also.

This Friday, May 3, Ruth M. Bryant '18, daughter of Professor E. C. Bryant, who has been in the Editorial Department of the Macmillian Publishing Co. in New York City since 1922, will speak on publishing house work.

The following week Anne F. Smith '06, a social worker in Worcester, Mass., since 1918, will give a talk on social service work.

The Stanford University football team covered 10,258 miles in four trips during the last season.

MIDDLEBURY LOSES TO ST. LAWRENCE IN INITIAL GAME

New Yorkers Get Pitching And Hitting to Win 5 to 1.

TEAM PLAYS WELL TO START SEASON

St. Michael's Game Cancelled Clarkson and Upsala To Play Here.

By Ward S. Yunker.

The Middlebury baseball nine opened its season last Saturday playing St. Lawrence University at Canton. The New Yorkers got the better pitching and the heavier hitting which resulted in a 5 to 1 defeat for the Panther. Although handicapped by lack of actual play, the Blue and White team played a fine game and were only downed after a hard battle.

Coach Hessler started Cook on the rubber for Middlebury and although beaten, "Red" twirled good ball. The fifth inning was his only bad one. St. Lawrence scoring three runs that frame. The Cantonites used two pitchers during the course of the game, Strickland starting the contest and Woodlock twirling the last two innings.

St. Lawrence started the scoring in the second inning with a singleton. O'Brien started the inning with a single, advanced to second while Sorenson was putting out Heister and scoring on Eckardt's single. A base on balls, a single and a wild pitch by Cook let in another New York run in the third inning.

The fifth inning produced the fireworks and settled the ball game. Strickland opened the inning with a single. Keller was safe on a error by Anderson. Strickland tried to make third on the play, but was nipped by a perfect peg from Jacobs. Cook gave Caldwell a free ticket to the initial sack and then Tenney cleared the bases with a triple, both Keller and Caldwell scoring. O'Brien was out, Anderson to Sorensen, but Tenney scored the third run when Heister singled and then Scully ended the agony by succumbing to Cook's twirling.

The Panther scored its only run in the eighth inning. Cook started off the inning by grounding out to second base. Franzoni received a base on balls and then Hasseltine was given a free ticket to give Middlebury two on and only one out. Franzoni scored when Humeston was safe on an error by Heister, leaving Hasseltine on third and Humeston on second, still with only one out. Things looked promising for the Blue and White, but Anderson was out, Heister to Eckardt and Willis flied out to Caldwell, the St. Lawrence third baseman, to end the rally.

Coach Hessler has been hampered in his work with the baseball squad by incessant bad weather, but his boys showed up well and should improve greatly with more experience under fire. The St. Michael's game which was to be played on the Middlebury field this Friday has been cancelled due to a smallpox epidemic at the Winooski school. Clarkson Tech will invade the local diamond that day instead and Upsala will play here Saturday afternoon. The score:

THIRTY MEN REPORT FOR SPRING FOOTBALL

Squad Getting in Trim For Difficult Schedule Next Fall.

The spring football training season opened Saturday, April 13, when over thirty men reported to Coach Ben H. Beck for the first practice. Ten of the men who reported were letter men of last year's varsity while an equal number of numeral men from last fall's Freshmen State Championship team also reported.

The veterans, led by Captain-elect Sammy Guarnaccia of Wakefield, Mass., will do their working out in gym suits, cleated shoes being the only football equipment to be issued, according to Coach Beck.

A greater part of the two week training period will be devoted to skull practice and running through formations in the open, teaching the new members of the squad the rudiments of the game, and acquainting the freshmen with the varsity system and plays. With a schedule opening up with Columbia on September 28, the Black Panther eleven will have to know their plays long before they are ready to come back for the fall camp.

With the exception of Willis, who graduates this June, Coach Beck will have a veteran backfield including Captain Guarnaccia at half, McLeod at full, and Johnson at quarter. In the line Hasseltine, McNary, Wright, Valois, Wilson, Perry and Keenan are the letter men who will be back.

The squad has only been able to practice a few days because of adverse weather conditions, but it is hoped that this week will again see the boys on the field. Many good prospects have been unable to turn out because they have been playing baseball or racing against time on the cinder track, but the early fall practice ought to see them out to a man.

TRACK TEAM MEETS RENSSELAER POLY

The track team leaves for Troy Friday evening to meet Rennselaer Polytechnical Institute Saturday afternoon in the first track meet of the year. Initial try-outs of the season were held on Porter Field between Wednesday and Saturday of the past week to ascertain who will make the trip. Times of the trials were somewhat slow due to the poor condition of the track and the rank weather conditions that have failed to allow the men sufficient workouts.

Kappa Delta Rho Wins Handball Tournament

The strong Kappa Delta Rho handball team reched the finals and won the handball cup by defeating the Sigma Phi Epsilon trio in the recent Intramural Handball Tournament. The winning team was composed of Cook, Jacobs and Fowlston while the losing trio was Jackson, D. C. Deand and P. K. Deland.

Previous to the final play-off, the Deta Kappa Epsion trio lost two out of three matches to the "Sig Eps", and Beta Kappa tasted defeat at the hands of the K. D. R. team by losing two out of three matches. The final play-off was very close throughout with the victors winning two of the three matches.

Fowlston, K. D. R. dropped three straight to D. C. Daland, S. P. E.; Cook, K. D. R. took three out of four away from Jackson, S. P. E., and Jacobs, K. D. R. defeated P. K. Dalend, S. P. E. in three out of five sets. Besides giving the victorious K. D. R. trio the Handball cup, they will also receive 25 points toward the Interfraternity cup.

REGINALD COOK '24 ADDED TO ENGLISH DEPARTMENT STAFF

To Teach American Literature; Prof. Davison will Have Leave of Absence.

The appointment of Reginald Lansing Cook to the staff of the Departments of English and American Literature as instructor for the coming year has been announced by President Paul D. Moody. Mr. Cook comes to Middlebury primarily to teach courses in composition and creative writing but will also offer courses in literary criticism and contemporary American poetry during the first semester. He received the degree of B. S. from Middlebury in 1924 and the degree of M. A. at Bread Loaf in 1926, where he specialized in courses in writing and literature. Following his graduation from college, Mr. Cook had some poems published in several magazines and attracted considerable attention at Bread Loaf for his imaginative work.

In 1926 Mr. Cook was selected to go to Oxford University as Rhodes Scholar from the state of Vermont. He is completing his work at Oxford this spring, where he has specialized in English literature.

During his undergraduate days at Middlebury Mr. Cook was prominent in many student activities, being President of the Undergraduate Association, Captain of Track, and Editor-in-Chief of The Saxonian. He will bring to his work at Middlebury an enthusiastic appreciation of his Alma Mater, supplemented by his wider contacts at Bread Loaf and his study and travel abroad. During his Oxford years Mr. Cook has been prominent in athletics, haveing run several times against Cambridge, winning the Oxford Blue for his athletic ability and being elected to several exclusive clubs.

Mr. Cook's coming to Middlebury makes possible an arrangement whereby Professor Wilfred Davison will be absent from the College during the second semester next year. During the second semester Mr. Cook will carry on the course in American Literature 21. In consequence of his absence during the second semester, the program of Professor Davison's work for the year will be changed so that he will offer during the first semester the course in American Literature 21, a one-semester course in American Novel, and the course in The Teaching of English. Professor Davison has not yet made definite plans where his leave of absence will be spent. It is granted in accordance with an arrangement voted last spring by the Trustees whereby the Deans of the various Schools of the Summer Session will be given special leave at specified intervals.

Swift punishment falls upon cheaters at the University of California. Student judges, conscious of their power, recently suspended two students for the balance of the quarter and also flunked them in the courses concerned. Another cribber was placed on probation. The students at the University are given this power through the self-government system, and they execute it thoroughly.

the varsity baseball squad, and has been a letter man since his Freshman year. He has participated in interfraternity basketball and track, and is a member of the Varsity "M" Club. He is prominent in the affairs of his class, of which he is president this year, and he is also a member of the Dramatic Club and the Spanish Club. He is a member of Chi Psi fraternity.

In presenting the cup to Mr. Sorensen President Moody gave a brief history of the Hazeltine-Klevenow Award. The cup was orginally donated to the college by Dean Burt A. Hazeltine and former Coach Marshall M. Klevenow, and is awarded annually to the student who has for the past two semesters the best record for scholarship and ability in athletics. Last year was the first time that the cup was awarded, and the recipient was Carleton H. Simmons '28. Originally there was no replica to be presented to the persons who had their names inscribed on the large cup, but the father of Carleton Simmons, the late F. A. Simmons of Boston, was so pleased with the high honor that had been bestowed upon his son, that he presented the college with several replicas of the Hazeltine-Klevenow cup, and these small cups are now presented, one each year.

The inscription upon the large cup which is kept in the President's office, reads, "Presented to Middlebury College to be inscribed annually with the name of the student who best combines ability in athletics with excellence in scholarship. 1928, C. H. Simmons. 1929, C. G. Sorensen."

POETRY COLLECTION WILLED TO COLLEGE

Mrs. Marguerite Wilkinson Leaves Literature To College.

The poetry library of the late Marguerite Wilkinson has recently been received by the College, according to announcement by President Paul D. Moody. The library is now in process of being catalogued and will be open to general inspection as soon as the cataloguing is completed. It consists of over three hunderd special volumes of contemporary poetry and criticism and is a valuable addition to the Middlebury collection.

The library was sent to the College by Mr. Ogden Bigelow, of Greenwich, Conn., a brother of Mrs. Wilkinson, to whom it was turned over shortly before his recent death by Mr. James Wilkinson, the husband of Mrs. Wilkinson. Mr. Wilkinson expressed the wish that Middlebury and Bread Loaf should receive the library and whatever other of the literary effects of Mrs. Wilkinson might be acceptable. Mr. Bigelow has indicated that presently the College will receive certain manuscripts, notes, and autograhped letters, which will form a valuable item for the College archives.

Because of Mrs. Wilkinson's sudden death and the subsequent illness and death of Mr. Wilkinson, those in charge of adjusting the estate have had a difficult problem. Mrs. Wilkinson's probated will antedated her conection with Middlebury under that will the autographed volumes of poetry in her library were bequeathed to her Alma Mater, Northwestern University. It is the remainder of the library which, according to the wish of Mr. Wilkinson, has been received by Middlebury. While it will be available for use at the College, it will be given special attention as a feature of the Bread Loaf Library, where it is expected a special section will be devoted to Mrs. Wilkinson's books.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Wilkinson were devoted friends of Bread Loaf. Mrs. Wilkinson was on the staff of the School of English in 1924 and 1926 and was a visiting lecturer in 1925. Middlebury conferred on Mrs. Wilkinson in 1926 the honorary degree of Master of Arts. Mrs. Wilkinson was widely known as both poet and critic of contemporary poetry and was one of the most influential figures in what is known as the recent renaissance of poetry in America. Middlebury is doubly fortunate in receiving the volumes and in the memorial they establish to two devoted friends of Bread Loaf.

PROFESSOR LACALLE LEAVES MIDDLEBURY TO GO TO RUTGERS

Built Up Nationally Famous Spanish School Here.

CARLOS CONCHA TO BE HIS SUCCESSOR

Newly Appointed Professor Now is Instructor At Yale.

Professor Julian Moreno-Lacalle, head of the Spanish department here since 1920, has resigned, according to information recently received from the office of the President. Professor Lacalle, who is this year on leave of absence, will go to the New Jersey College for Women, which is affiliated with Rutgers University. He will be in Middlebury to conduct the summer school of 1929, but will go to his new post for the college year of 1929-1930.

Professor Carlos Concha, present instructor in Spanish at Yale University, and a member of the faculty of the Middlebury summer schoo since 1923, has been appointed to the Spanish chair and will act as Dean of the Spanish School.

Professor Concha is one of the best known Spanish educators in the country, and comes to Middlebury with great experience in his field. He has studied extensively both in this country and elsewhere, and holds several degrees. He is one of the foremost authorities in the country on the subject of Latin-American relations and history.

Professor Concha received his M. A. degree from the University of San Marcos, at Lima, Peru, in 1908, and his L. L. B. from the same institution in 1915. In 1919 the University conferred upon him the degree of Doctor en Ciencias Politicas y Administrativas. He also holds the rank o fCaballero de la Real Order de Isabel la Catolica. From 1915 to 1918 he was professor of Spanish in Colegio Nacional du Nueatra Senora de Guadalupe, Lima, and also professor of modern history in the Military Academy of Peru during this same period. During the year 1919 Professor Concha held the assistant professorship of Political Economy in the University of San Marcos. In 1923 he came to the United States to accept a position at Villanova College, and also to become a member of the faculty of the Middlebury Summer School of Spanish, a position which he still holds. After one year at Villanova he went to Yale, and he is now instructor in Spanish at that institution.

One of the most interesting phases of Professor Concha's career was his work under the Peruvian government. He held the position of private secretary to the president of Peru, but was forced to relinquish this office, when changing political conditions forced both him and the president to flee from the country. An amnesty act has since been passed, so Professor Concha has nothing to fear should he wish to revisit the land in which he was educated.

Lacalle Founded Spanish School.

By the resignation of Professor Lacalle Middlebury loses one of her ablest professors. He is recognized throughout the country as being one of the leaders in the profession of Spanish instruction, and his work in the Spanish School of Middlebury has been watched with interest by educators eveywhere.

Professor Lacalle came here in 1920 and the phenomenal growth of the Middlebury Spanish School dates from that year. He has been director of the school since its founding and has built up an enviable reputation both for himself and for the school.

Professor Lacalle has had a most interesting and successful career. He is of Spanish parentage, and was educated at Manila, in the University of St. Thomas. He received his Master's degree at the University of Maryland, and for a time held the position of Spanish Editor of the Pan American Union. He was a member of the faculty of the department of modern languages at the United States Naval Academy previous to his coming to Middlebury.

Professor Lacalle is the author of several books, among which are El Centenario de la Independencia de Venezula, El Norte de la Patagonia, (translation), Elementos de Espagnol, and Elements of Spanish Grammar.

Stages in Growth of Cells Subject of Novel Movie

An educational film showing the growth of living tissue, including both normal tissue in the fowl and cancer tissue in the rat, will be presented in connection with the regular program by the Biology Department under the direction of Dr. Samuel E. Longwell at the Opera House Friday evening, May 3. The film will occupy about forty-five minutes of the program.

This is the first successful effort to depict on the screen actual growth of living tissues. The result is so fascinating that even students who are not in the Biology Department will find it interesting.

It is the only opportunity Middlebury will have to see the film as it is being sent across the continent from the University of California Extension Division straight east, with presentations at various colleges. As soon as it has been run here, it will be shipped immediately to Dartmouth.

Margaret Chatfield Talks On Hotel Managemement

Miss Margaret Chatfield '18, manager of the new Panhellenic Hotel in New York spoke to the women's college on openings in the field of hotel management in Pearsons Hall Friday. Miss Chatfield said in part, "The field of hotel management has not long been open to women and is still somewhat limited. Many hotels have employed women in non-executive positions but now there are hotels run entirely by women. It seems that it is a woman's work as it is really housekeeping on a large scale. Each department is complex in itself and because of this should be managed separately, but all parts in unison. The accounting department is particularly interesting as it has direct insight into all other departments and provides a broad viewpoint of the entire business. The front desk also gives variety of experience as one comes in contact with the guests but there is much responsibility attached. The restaurant plays an important part in drawing people to the hotel and some managers even plan to run this department at a loss and by so doing fill the rooms and make up the deficit.

"Short courses are not satisfactory as a thorough knowledge of the business is necessary. A college training gives a good foundation to work on but even a college girl should begin at the bottom and learn the working of all sections.

Miss Chatfield continued a description of the Panhellenic Hotel and its purpose. It is a hotel built by women for women and is unique in that it is maintained by the stock sold by college women. It is open to all college girls and their friends, either for temporary or permanent residence. The building is of modern design in the new east side development of New York. There are twenty-six stories and three hundred and ninety-three rooms, furnished in Early American. The social halls are modern but not so much so as to be uncomfortabe. On the top floor is a Solarium enclosed by vita glass where guests may also be entertained. It is a house with one rule—that men are allowed on only the second and twenty-sixth floors. There are no men in executive positions, a fact which shows the increasing opportunities for women in this field.

To Choose Prom Queen for First Time in Midd History

For the first time in the history of the college a Middlebury Junior Prom Queen is to be selected. During the intermission of the Prom, a suitable committee will select the woman in attendance who, in their estimation, is the most beautiful and the most attractive. The Junior Prom Queen will then be announced and will be crowned with a coronation veil of silk, and red and white roses. The Class of 1930 will present her with an appropriate gift as a token of their respect. After this ceremony the queen will be led to her throne of honor and will preside over remaining festivities of the evening.

APPLICATIONS FOR RHODES SCHOLARS OBTAINABLE NOW

Professor F. W. Cady Has Blanks For Oxford Aspirants.

The 1929 election of Rhodes Scholars will be held on December 7, and students of this College must file their applications with the Secretary of the State Committee of Selection before October 19, according to a recent announcement from Frank Aydelotte, American Secretary to the Rhodes Trustees and President of Swarthmore College.

A Rhodes Scholarship, the most coveted of all undergraduates awards, entitles the holder to two years of study at Oxford University, with an annual stipend of £400 (about $2000). If, at the end of the second year the Scholar presents an approved plan for an additoional year of study, the Rhodes Trustees will then extend his Scholarship to cover a third year. Rhodes Scholars are elected without examination on the basis of their records in school and college, and no restriction is placed upon their choice of studies.

To be eligible a candidate must be an unmarried male citizen of the United States, between the ages of nineteen and twenty-five, and must have completed at least his Sophomore year in college before the time he goes to Oxford. He must then be one of the men chosen to represent this institution in the competition. Scholars selected on December 7,1929, will go to Oxford in October 1930.

The qualities which will be considered in making the selection are literary and scholastic ability and attainments, qualities of manhood, truth, courage, and moral force of character, and physical vigor as shown in outdoor sports or other ways. Exceptional athletic prowess is not essential to election.

These Scholarships were created by the will of Cecil Rhodes, the famous South African statesman and capitalist, who died in 1902. Their purpose is expressed in the terms of his will: "I also desire to encourage and foster an appreciation of the advantages which I implicity believe will result from the union of the English-speaking peoples throughout the world, and to encourage in the students from the United States . . . an attachment to the country from which they sprung, without I hope withdrawing them or their sympathies from the land of their adoption or birth."

Further information and application blanks may be obtained from Prof. F. W. Cady or from President Frank Aydelotte, American Secretary, at Swarthmore, Pa. Full information about study and life in Oxford of Today, published under the direction of the Association of American Rhodes Scholars, by the Oxford University Press, 114 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

ALPHA XI DELTA INFORMAL.

A Freshman-Sophomore informal was held Saturday night at the Alpha Xi Delta rooms. About twelve couples were present, including representatives from the Junior and Senior classes. The chaperones were Professor and Mrs. Frank Howard and Professor and Mrs. V. Spencer Goodreds.

Oberlin College has followed the lead of those higher educational institutions, which have abolished the six-letter grading system. Hereafter, Oberlin students will either "pass" of "fail", and they'll never know whether it was a pass by a D or an A.

TENNIS TEAM LOSES THREE MATCHES TO OPEN THE SEASON

Holy Cross, Clark University and Boston U. Win Close Contests.

Despite the undesirable weather the tennis team played the three matches scheduled for last week. Defeats were encountered at Holy Cross, Boston University and Clark University, but in all cases the scores were close and the winning of a very few points might have given Middlebury the victory in each instance. The team that made the trip consisted of Capt. Woodbury '30, D. Daland '30, Bemiss '30, and Sloper '32.

The outstanding features of the trip were the brilliant victories of Capt. Woodbury. Encountering in each case No. 1 player of the opposing team, he proved that he ranks among the best in New England Intercollegiate tennis. His smashing yet tricky serve confused his opponents and gave him many points. As a rule heplayed a chop stroke game which proved too good for the best players, but at opportune moments forehand drives to corners of the court were sure point winners. His feat of defeating the best man of these three universities is all the more remarkable when it is remembered that not a single day of outside practice on dirt courts was held before the trip.

The other three players, Daland, Bemiss and Sloper, suffered from a lack of experience and practice. Although all three showed much improvement in the later matches, their handicap proved too great to accomplish a victory over their more experienced opponents.

Thursday at Holy Cross the match was played between showers of cold rain, and Middlebury lost 5 to 1. Wet and undesirable courts hampered our team, the only victory being that of Capt. Woodbury over Capt. Kelly, 6-2, 6-2. Kelly showed poor form and the Middlebury captain encountered little opposition from him. Moss of Holy Cross by means of a chop stroke game made more effective by the condition of the courts won from Sloper 6-3, 7-5. Bemiss lost to Hill 6-3, 6-0, and Hughes of Holy Cross defeated Daland 6-4, 6-4. In the doubles Kelley and Moss won from Woodbury and Sloper 7-5, 6-2; while Bemiss and Daland put up a good fight but lost to Hill and O'Brien 3-6, 6-1, 6-1.

The next day the team was defeated by a well balanced squad representing Boston University by a score of 4 to 2. A long gruelling, yet at times brilliant match of singles resulted in a victory for Capt. Woodbury over Smith of Boston U. 5-7, 8-6, 6-1. Several times during the second set victory seemed assured for Smith when he brought it up to set point, but Woodbury always rallied and finally pulled through, and then trounced his opponent in the last set. Daland showed his best tennis of the trip when he won the first set of his match from Capt. Andrews 8-6, but his opponent's experience carried him through the next two sets to victory, 3-6, 3-6. Danforth, a young French player of much promise, defeated Bemiss 6-3, 6-1, while Sloper fell to Corish 6-2, 6-2. In the doubles Woodbury and Sloper, much improved from the previous day, won from Corish and Ohrns, of Boston U. 6-1, 6-4, while Daland and Bemiss lost to Carter and Danforth 6-1, 6-3.

Similar to the other two opponents, Clark University offered a team composed entirely of veterans, who were able to win 4 to 2 from our players. Capt. Woodbury played his same steady game, and aided by his serve which came with such deadly accuracy and speed that his opponent was unable to return it, he won 6-2, 6-1, from ex-Capt. Farrel. Dave Daland, opposing Roy, lost 6-2, 6-2, because of the deadly smashes of his opponent. In a match marked by lengthy games Capt. Amsden defeated Sloper 8-6, 4-6, 6-1. Amsden played a chop stroke game and by means of his powerful serve he wore down his less experienced opponent. Bemiss played fine tennis only to lose to Berkowitz in straight sets, 8-5, 6-3. In the doubles Capt. Woodbury and Sloper sprang a surprise by defeating Farrel and Berkowitz 6-2, 1-6, 7-5. Much good tennis was noticeable in this match as was the case of the other doubles when Popple and Roy won from Daland and Bemiss 6-4, 6-4.

Although losing all three matches the showing of the team was far from discouraging as the lack of practice and the fact that not a single man on the team received a letter for that sport last year, and every opposing team contained at least four letter men, gave the opponents a great advantage.

PROF. ABBOTT DIES SATURDAY MORNING

tice of law, for which he had prepared himsef, in order that he might go into teaching, where he felt that there was greater opportunity for service. Although his position here was not so lucrative as his legal practice would have been, he found ample recompense in the opportunities afforded for contact with his students, and for study and professional improvement. He gave the best years of his life to the college, and devoted himself unceasingly to the teaching and mastery of his chosen field of knowledge.

Came to Middlebury in 1913

Charles Francis Abbott was born in Suffield, Connecticut, August 24, 1868. He was the son of George and Flora (Newton) Abbott. During his early boyhood the family moved to Caremont, New Hampshire, where he received his preparatory education. He entered Dartmouth College in 1887 and was a graduate of that institution in the class of 1891. On July 24, 1893, at Chicago, he married Edith W. Howard, of Caremont, who survives him. He studied at the University of Michigan Law School and received from that institution the degree of Bachelor of Laws. He took up the practice of law, and was admitted to the bar in Colorado. Later he was also admitted to the bar in both Massachussetts and Vermont. Early in his career he was attracted by the teaching profession, and he served as an instructor in history and geography in English High School, Sommerville, Massachusetts during the years 1901 and 1909. During this same period he did considerable post-graduate work at Harvard. He received his M. A. degree from that institution in 1907. He then continued his researches at Harvard, at the same time serving as an instructor in government and law, until he was called to Middlebury in 1913, to serve as assistant professor of political science. In 1917 he was made Jermain Professor of Government and Law, and he occupied this chair until his death.

During his stay at Middlebury, Professor Abott always interested himself in community welfare and education. He was for many years in charge of the Sunday school work of the local Congregational church. Athough he gave himsef unstintingly to his students, who he felt had first call upon his time, he found time to devote himself to civic activities.

Professor Abbott was a member of the American Association of University Professors, and other learned societies. He was also a member of Phi Beta Kappa. He belonged to the local Congregational church, at which he was a regular attendant.

President Moody's Tribute

Saturday morning when President Moody announced the death of Professor Abbott, he called attention to how great a loss the college had sustained. and added that few men have given more oftheir abilities, energy and life, to the college.

President Moody has also written the following brief tribute to Professor Abbott:

"In the death of Professor Abbott the college has lost immeasurably. Ever since he has been connected with Middlebury he has enjoyed the respect and the affection of the students, both as a teacher, and as a man. His high standards of scholarship, his exacting demands upon his students, equalled only by his demands upon himself, made his class room one of the best training schools for life, whether the student contemplated law or business. His bravery in the face of his illness, his devotion to Middlebury, and the best interests of his students, have given us a bright heritage and an imperishable inspiration. He was a worthy successor to the giants of the past. His ability was only equalled by his nobility of character."

Funeral Services Monday Evening

The funeral was private, and held at his late home Monday evening. Only a few intimate friends of the family were invited to the simple prayer service.

Interment was in the family lot in Claremont, New Hampshire, at 1:30 p. m. Tuesday.

VARSITY DEBATERS WIN THREE OUT OF EIGHT ENCOUNTERS

Defeat Albany Law, Rutgers and University of Vermont.

The colege debating team won three and lost five of the eight contests on the past season's schedule. Since there was but one man with previous experience available at the beginning of the season this record may be regarded as very creditable. Also the varsity orators met some one of the strongest debating teams in the East during the course of the season, among them New York University and Rutgers, and showed up exceedingly well against these experienced aggregations. Furthermore the debaters went through their entire schedule with no faculty coaching, and worked up and perfected their own arguments without any outside assistance.

The first four debates of the season were those of the New York trip, which lasted about a week and took the speakers through the southern part of the state and into northern New Jersey. The team making this trip consisted of Sam W. Pattee '29, Raymond Saulnier '29, Arthur H. Lawson '30, and Richard H. Amerman '31. The speakers broke even with the teams that they met, as they won from Albany Law School, and Rutgers University, and lost to New York University and Upsala College.

The first home debate of the season was with Vermont. In this contest Middlebury was represented by Sam Pattee '29, Raymond Saulnier '29, and Reamer Kline '32, and succeeded in winning by a unaminous decision. Also Mr. Saulnier was awarded the first Lawrence Prize of $25, which is given to the best speaker in the annual Vermont-Middlebury contest. The second and third prizes were divided between two Vermont speakers.

The debate with Norwich, the second contest in the state championship series, was held at Northfield. Middlebury was represented by the same team that defeated Vermont, but nevertheless lost to the Norwich speakers, by a two to one decision.

The contest with Bucknell University was the next on the schedule, and was held here, with Mr. Pattee, Mr. Saulnier, and Giles E. Chase '32 representing Middlebury. A two to one decision of the judges was awarded to the visitors, who had a very strong and impressive team.

The closing contest in the state title series, and the last debate on Middlebury's schedule was held here with St. Michael's College, and resulted in a unaminous decision for the visitors. Speakers for Middlebury in this contest were Mr. Pattee, Mr. Saulnier, and Mr. Amerman.

The series of contests to decide the state debating title resulted in a tie for first place between Vermont and St. Michael's, the former beaten only by Middlebury, and the later only by Vermont. Middlebury with defeats from Norwich and St. Michael's is tied for the cellar position with Norwich, losers to Vermont and St. Michael's.

The prospects for next year are exceedingly bright and a most successful season may well be expected. All the debaters appearing during the contests of this past season, with the exception of Mr. Pattee, and Mr. Saulnier, will be available. Also there will be a faculty coach, Professor Griffin of the Economics Department, who has been appointed to handle the debating work of both the men's and the women's teams. The schedule is now being prepared by A. H. Lawson '30, manager for next year.

A. cabinet for the coming year: President, Helen Walcott '30; Vice-President and Chairman of the Program Committee, Nita Willets '30; Secretary, Marion Singiser '32; Treasurer, Betty Oetjen '31; President of Student Government, Louise Drowne '30; Chairman of Social Committee, Francelia Rose '30; Rooms Committee, Lucille Damerell '30; Snapshot Committee, Marion Cruikshank '30; Social Service Committee, Virginia Bland '31; Music Committee, Dorothy Johnson '31; Publicity Committee, Audria Gardner '31; Cosmopolitan Group, Dorothy Pearson '31; Rural Discussion Group, Virginia Cole '31; Freshman Representative, Elizabeth Lee '32.

The senior class at Vassar is attempting to raise $1,000 for a smoking room for the college. The undergraduates are lending their support in a highly enthusiastic manner.

SKILLINGS ATTENDS BOSTON MEETING OF LANGUAGE TEACHERS

Teachers of German Discuss Important Problems Of Subject.

Professor Everett Skillings of the German Department has returned from a meeting of teachers of German held in Boston, Mass. April 20.

The purpose of the meeting was the organization of a New England chapter of the American Association of teachers of German. The association was formed two years aog. Professor Geddes of Boston University presided as temporary chairman of the meeting. Among other prominent people present were Taylor Stark of Harvard, Professor Green of Tufts and Professor Perrin of Boston University. Representatives from Wellesley, Simmons, Brown, Andover Academy, Exeter Academy and many other colleges and secondary schools also attended.

Professor Stark led an informal round table discussion concerning the different phases of the situation of the teaching of German. He emphasized the fact that a crisis is approaching when there will not be a sufficient number of teachers of the language available. Few college students are majoring in German. This is partly due to the fact that the teachers of the language are not making themselves felt by students who have the ability to master the language. It was also pointed out that there are many positions open at large salaries to capable German teachers.

Assistant Superintendent Hathaway of the Boston schools presented comparative statistics showing a great increase in the number of students studying German in his schools. In general the situation is that classes in beginner's German are crowded, whereas there are very few in the advanced courses. This is particularly true at Harvard and generally the case throughout the country.

Officers of the association were elected for the coming year. Mr. Kuno Francke of Harvard was chosen honorary president, Professor Marshall Perrin of B. U., President, Miss Kaufmann of Simmons, vice-president, and Miss Muehler of the Bowditch School at Cambridge, Mass., secretary.

1929 SILHOUETTE ANNOUNCES PLANS FOR CIRCULATION

Subscriptions Obtained from Wig and Pen Members or Board.

Harold Spencer King, '31, was added to the 1929 Silhouette board last Wednesday evening. Mr. King is to act in the capacity of assistant business manager and will be in direct charge of all subscriptions.

The editors have announced that the final estimate on the printing of this year's booklet has been received and a printer has been chosen. The Silhouette will be printed on better paper and will have a better cover than last year's. It will also have a more readable type which will add to the attractiveness of the book. All the cuts to be used in this year's booklet, with the exception of two, are being made especially with the Silhouette in view. They are being made through a finer screen than that usually used and will consequently present a finer appearance and will be considerably clearer. These improvements have more than trebled the cost of having the book printed, but the editors, in keeping with their original plans, have held the retail price down as close as possible to the cost. Orders for copies will be taken by any member of the Wig and Pen or the Silhouette Board at one dollar per copy. As there will be a limited number of copies printed it is urged that all orders be placed as soon as possible.

Many of the writeups have been written to date and the board expects to turn most of the copy over to the printer within a week. The cuts are now being made and will also be ready in a week or ten days. Production is being rushed as rapidly as possible in order to get the Silhouette out by the last of May. Unless some unforseen incident turns up to delay things, copies will be ready for distribution by or before June first.

Dr. Park of Wheaton Calls War Obselete

Dr. Parks of Wheaton College, spoke at Vespers Sunday taking as his text the words "For we wrestle not with flesh and blood." He began by tracing the history of the world in terms of war, and went on to say: One of the reasons for the universal interest in the Bible is the continuous series of fights from start to finish; fights against disorder, earthquakes, hunger, pestilence, and disease. A great part of the human race developed in planning how to kill the other man.

"In the New Testament is the vain attempt of Christ and his Apostles to persuade the world of the futility of war. This was the great message of his life. It seems ultimately the world will learn that you may kill ten thousand of the opposing side but the problem remains in the same condition as it was before.

"Religion has helped and goaded on every war. The only way things are abolished are by becoming unfashionable, ceasing to be the vogue. As long as war is allowed to sweep over the young people of nations, so long will it remain. Religion cannot do much to destroy war.

"The real warrior of today is the scientist, the psychologist: the true hero, who works not in hate of his fellow man, but in pure love of his work. It is for the Youth of today to transfer the prestige to these fighters of disease, of mental darkness and of ignorance: to keep their heads better than their fathers did: to make this madness of war less fashionable.

"A great part of the dexterity of the race has developed in planning to kill the other. War has been of great advantage thus, but its work and value are done. It is as a crutch no longer needed. We must now transfer its prestige to its true fold, beauty and the psychological man. Thus begins the real warfare, for our race has just begun. There is no limit to the heights to which we can soar. The day of the value of war when mankind had to be goaded to activity is past. 'For we wrestle not with the flesh and blood.'"

Plans for Junior Week are Well Towards Completion

The Junior Week programs are expected to be on sale either Thursday or Friday, the first date of sale to be reserved for members of the Junior Class and the following days for members of the other classes. A very limited number of programs have been ordered to faciliate the sales, and undergraduates wishing copies are urged to act as soon as the anouncement is made.

The program is very distinctive in design and make-up and promises to be a worthy memoir of 1930 Junior Week. On the cover there is an embossed photo of the New Chapel laid upon the rich blue of the cover proper. The contents of the booklet consist of the programs of the Junior week festivities, the order of Interfraternity Stunts and Songs and Intersorority Songs, the cast of the Junior Play "Not Herbert", the baseball, tennis and track schedules and a list of the Junior Week Committees.

The plans for the best social and athletic programs of the college year are taking their final form according to an announcement made by Chairman Goltry. The remarkable innovations instituted by the Class of 1930 for the coming Junior Week will undoubtedly tend to make a hereto unexcelled success from every point of view. The committees have been working along ideas that have never been attempted before and have activities that will provide interest for each individual as well as the college at large.

The Junior Prom will mark the peak of the social events while the baseball game with Vermont will attract the most interest in the remarkable string of athletic events. The committee in charge of the Junior Jamboree, the college outing to take place on Saturday morning, is planning to make accommodations for over one hundred couples and if the weather is good, even bigger crowd will be expected. Many prizes are to be awarded in the Treasure Hunt that is to be conducted in conjunction with the Jamboree. The winners will find these prizes usefull as well as memorable of a glorious morning of fun.

The cast of the Junior Play, "Not Herbert", that was chosen last week, has been practising diligently to make the production one of great success. Mr. Wilson said that although he realizes considerable time was spent in the selection of the cast, he now feels that it was time well spent and that the selected few are perfectly suited for their parts in the play.

Miss Rose, Chairman of the Tea Dance Committee, has completed her plans for the first social event of the week and is waiting patiently for the afternoon to present itself. With the well-known Fenderson's Trio supplying the music for the dance, everyone may be assured of a wonderful few hours of dancing.

College Poets to Read Works in Contest

Williams, Mass. — (IP) — Ambitious young poets of five colleges from New England will meet at Middletown on May 11 to offer original compositions in verse.

The colleges which will be represented are Williams, Amherst, Wesleyan, Vassar and Mount Holyoke. The contest is sponsored by Mount Holyoke, and a prize of $100 has been donated for the best poem.

Each competing college will have one contestant, chosen from the undergraduate body. The compositions, either single or collected poems, must be read, not less than nine or more than fifteen minutes being alloted for the reading.

College students are being given free aeroplane rides through the courtesy of the Parker Pen Company which is sending its monoplane, the "Parker Duofold", on a tour of southern colleges from Purdue. So far the plane has visited ten colleges, and at Purdue over 1,700 students signed for the free air ride.

A "woman-hater" club has been organized at the University of Denver. Members of this select organization must never be seen conversing with a woman, save for necessary business, and all dates with the fair sex are out of the question. Each member of this unique society is known by a red button worn in the lapel.
